- Even though the composite SET index (SETI) continued to be gripped by volatility during the session, the uptrend remained in place as all indicators flashed bullish signals and all moving averages were clearly in bullish alignment. Trading volume stayed high. Volatile gains in the SETI would likely continue as the Modified Stochastic showed %K = 91.36, indicating an overbought condition.
- Our short-term recommendation remains 'TRADING BUY.' Cut loss if the SETI closes below 915.
